Description

Yema Carrier by Cybex

The baby carrier Yema fuses the highest fashion standard with ergonomical perfection. The minimalistic design and the carefully implemented details make the Yema a fashion accessory.

- Front carry position - Babies can be carried facing the chest from birth. The baby carrier encourages the correct posture in the spreadsquat position, which can help the hip joints to develop.
- Hip carry position - Babies that can hold their own head (from around 3 months) can also be carried in the side position. This allows them to rest against mum's shoulder while taking in their surroundings.
- Back carry position - Babies with good head and bottom control (from around 6 months) can be carried in the YEMA on your back, making it easy for parents to bear the baby's weight.

Style-conscious parents will love the Yema for its sleek design while babies benefit from the close contact. Thanks to the seamlessly adjustable seat panel and the adjustable headrest the carrier grows with your child. It is suitable from birth to two years approx (7lbs - 26.5lbs) and offers three carrying positions: front parent facing position, hip carry position, and back carry position. These positions promote a natural spread squat position that is important for the baby's hip development.
